

AMALGAMATED LOST CHANCE

Offered Stock That Would Have Given Control of Greene

A Boston correspondent of the Michigan Mining Gazette writes: "It has recently come to light that it was the American Metals company interests who came to the relief of Colonel Greene when he purchased 135,000 shares of Greene Consolidated company stock at 34 in the Lawson raid and later discovered that he did not have the money to pay for the stock. They loaned Colonel Greene $1,000,000 and were willing to advance him $2,000,000 if necessary."

"This was after Colonel Greene had gone to Mr. Rogers and had frankly stated his predicament. He offered the 135,000 shares to Mr. Rogers at the price he paid for it, namely, 34. Mr. Rogers looked upon the affair with favor, informed Colonel Greene that he would have to see his son-in-law, Mr. Broughton, and whatever Mr. Broughton agreed to in the matter would be agreeable to him."

"Colonel Greene met Mr. Broughton, but the latter thought the price of 34 too high in view of the fact that the stock had sold at 10 only a few months previous. Colonel Greene would not listen to any modification of his offer, and withdrew and Amalgamated lost its chance to acquire control of the property, for these 135,000 shares, with other holdings of the Amalgamated interests, would have given control."

"The sequel to the above, which is the first narrative of the meeting between Messrs. Greene and Rogers, is the giving of the metal selling contract to the American Metal company. The latter came to Colonel Greene's relief after the Amalgamated people had turned him down, trying at the same time to take advantage of what was considered his financial inability to longer carry his big line of stock."

School Teachers are Born, Not Made

Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri hits the head of the nail very often. Speaking to the house the other day of the inadequate wages paid to the school teachers of the District of Columbia, as well as to teachers generally, he said that these teachers were the only people with whose employment the federal government has anything to do who are not paid enough. Among other things he said:

"It seems to me also with school teachers—they are not made, they are born. The most delicate machine in the world is the human mind, and as far as I am concerned, I do not want a bungler practicing on the minds of my children, dwarfing and warping them for all time to come. One trouble with the school system in the United States is that for some reason or other it is considered by the people who engage in the occupation of teaching as a mere stepping stone to something else."

The way to prevent this calling from being made a mere stepping stone is to make the pay sufficiently attractive so that there will be inducement for others than mere bunglers to make it a life business and stick to it.—Bisbee Miner.

D. P. Evans, of Columbus, Ohio, who started to trundle a wheel barrow from his home to San Francisco, thence to Yuma and New Orleans and back to the starting place was a caller at The Citizen office today. The trip is the result of a losing a wager wherein he bet that Governor Herrick's majority would not exceed 50,000, whereas the majority rolled up for the Ohio man went over 113,000. The trip was begun on May 2, last year, and the loser has until June 2, 1906, in which to complete his trip. Mr. Evans is accompanied by a bull dog, and his barrow is labeled "A wager trip around the continent." He bears a book of the customary order in such cases which is filled with the signatures of the different mayors of towns through which he passes, and he is registered at the Santa Cruz, having found an old friend of his family in Proprietor Fassig.—Tucson Citizen.

A Pioneer Gambler's Opinion.

B. S. Comstock, one of the last of the early day gamblers of Arizona, is visiting Douglas. He has dealt faro bank in every town and camp in Arizona since public gambling opened in the territory. When Tombstone was in its glory Comstock was behind the box during all the camp's prosperity. He has seen and dealt some of the greatest games that were ever played in Arizona. In speaking about the proposed anti-gambling legislation Mr. Comstock believes that a law separating the gambling and liquor business will be enacted. This he believes will be a good law for as the matter now stands, a saloon man has to run gambling to sell booze and a gambling man has to sell booze to get the gambling.—International American.

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this great remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.

Letting Him Off Easy

Patient—Great Scott! Doctor, that's an awful bill for one week's treatment!

Doctor—My dear fellow, if you knew what an interesting case yours was and how strongly I was tempted to let it go to a post-mortem you wouldn't grumble at a bill three times as big as this.—Modern Society.

A Mother's Recommendation

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Mich. For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.

The Reason

"I wish they'd invent a new expression occasionally," said Top, as he perused the account of a recent wedding. "It's always the 'blushing' bride."

"Well," said Mrs. Top, "when you consider the sort of husbands most girls have to marry you can't wonder at them blushing."—T. T. Bits.

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is an antiseptic and quick healing liniment for cuts, bruises and burns. For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.
